Feeding the Penguins

Feeding the Penguins...

- SLES 11 Linux for System z
 - Build Template (Gold) servers
 - DASD Sized by application type
 - Six Gigabyte – basic
 - Thirteen gigabyte – Modest Application
 - Twenty-seven Gigabyte – Larger Application
 - Clone and grow
 - Six or 20 gigabyte increments

...Feeding the Penguins...

- Cloning

- SYSTEM FILE – list of unique attributes of the system – gateway, subnet mask, etc.
- SERVER FILE – list of servers and unique attributes
- Copy virtual disks of base server to new server
- Provision a new virtual server in five to ten minutes

Protecting the Penguins

Protecting the Penguins

- Monitoring
 - z/VM Hypervisor
 - Linux Servers
- Alerts
- Storage Management
- Penguin Security

Monitoring...

- You need a tool
 - You have numerous options
- Choose carefully
 - You do not get what you do not pay for
 - Reconcile the difference between virtual and real

How full is my bucket?

Real Bucket
Actual Available CPU
35% used

Virtual Buckets
Perceived Used CPU

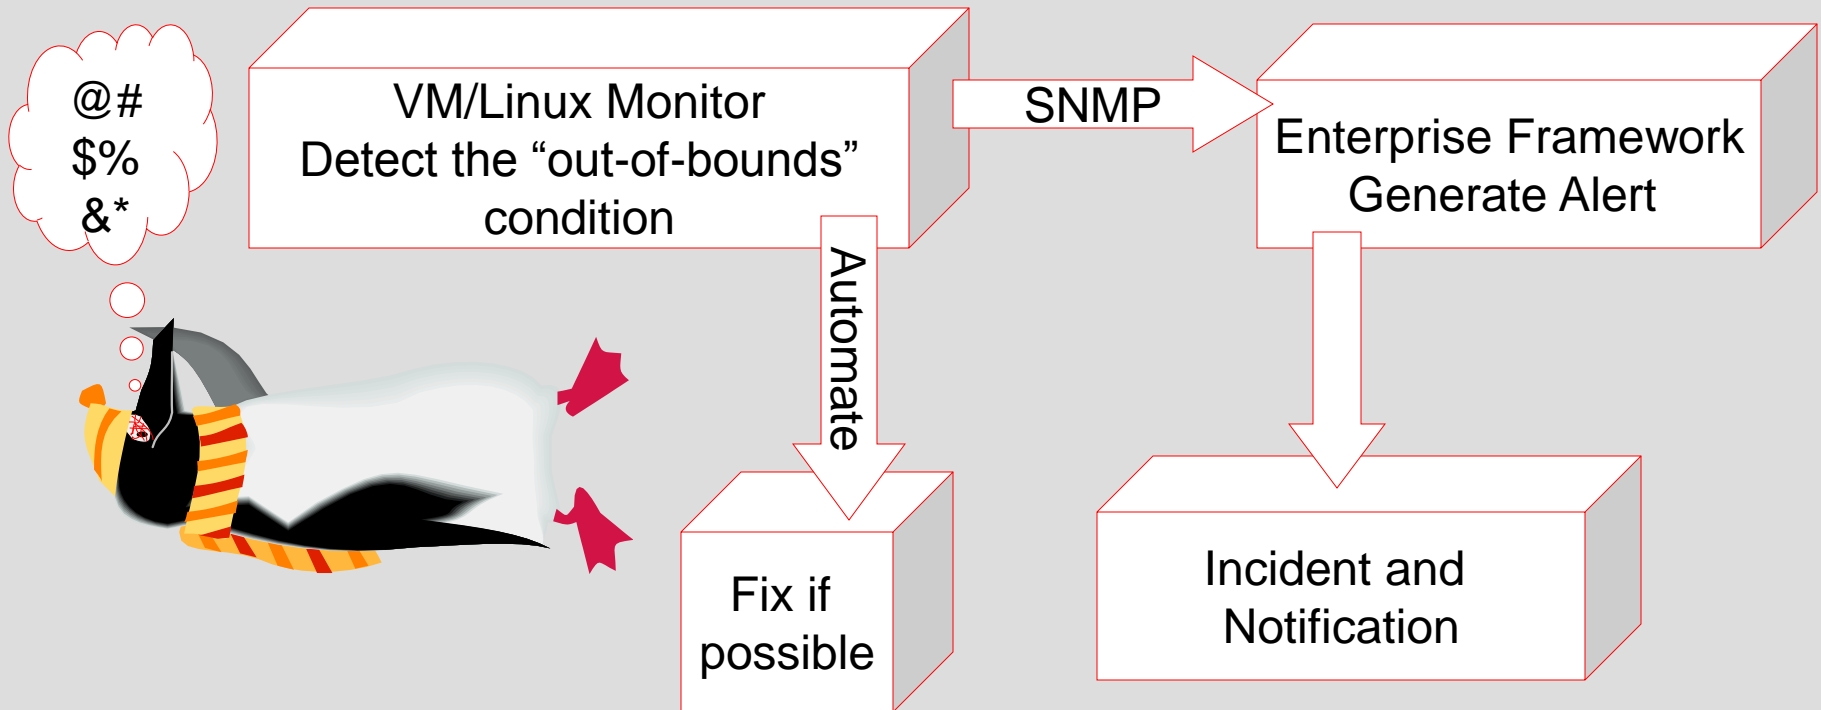

Alerts...

- We need to know when
 - Server is down
 - Server is looping
 - File system is almost full
 - System storage is almost full
 - System is too busy
 - Other bad stuff

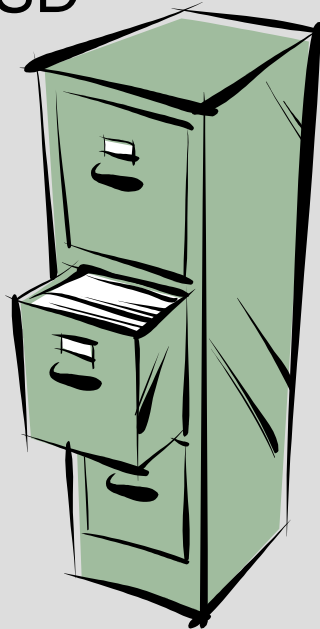

Generating an Alert

Penguin Storage

- z/OS Management
 - All existing processes
 - Allocating and Managing DASD volumes
 - Backup
 - Restore
 - Recovery
- z/VM Management
 - Assign DASD volumes to servers
 - Monitor
- Linux management
 - Logical Volume Manager (LVM)
 - Dynamically enlarge server application storage

Penguin Security

- z/VM Security
 - RACF for VM
 - Independent database
 - Admin use only
 - Logon to 3270 (green screen)
- Active Directory (AD)
 - Integrate Linux servers into existing AD environment
 - Group structure
 - Developer
