Abstract

What would it be worth to you to be more excited about going to work each day? For too many of us, much of our work day is spent doing a series of tasks no more interesting than scrubbing out a sink or changing a tire. Some decide simply to change jobs to reconnect with the joy they once felt, only to discover that nothing has changed after the initial newness wears off. Learn how to connect your passion to your expertise and then market it to your management, to create a job you can truly love.

Why We're Here

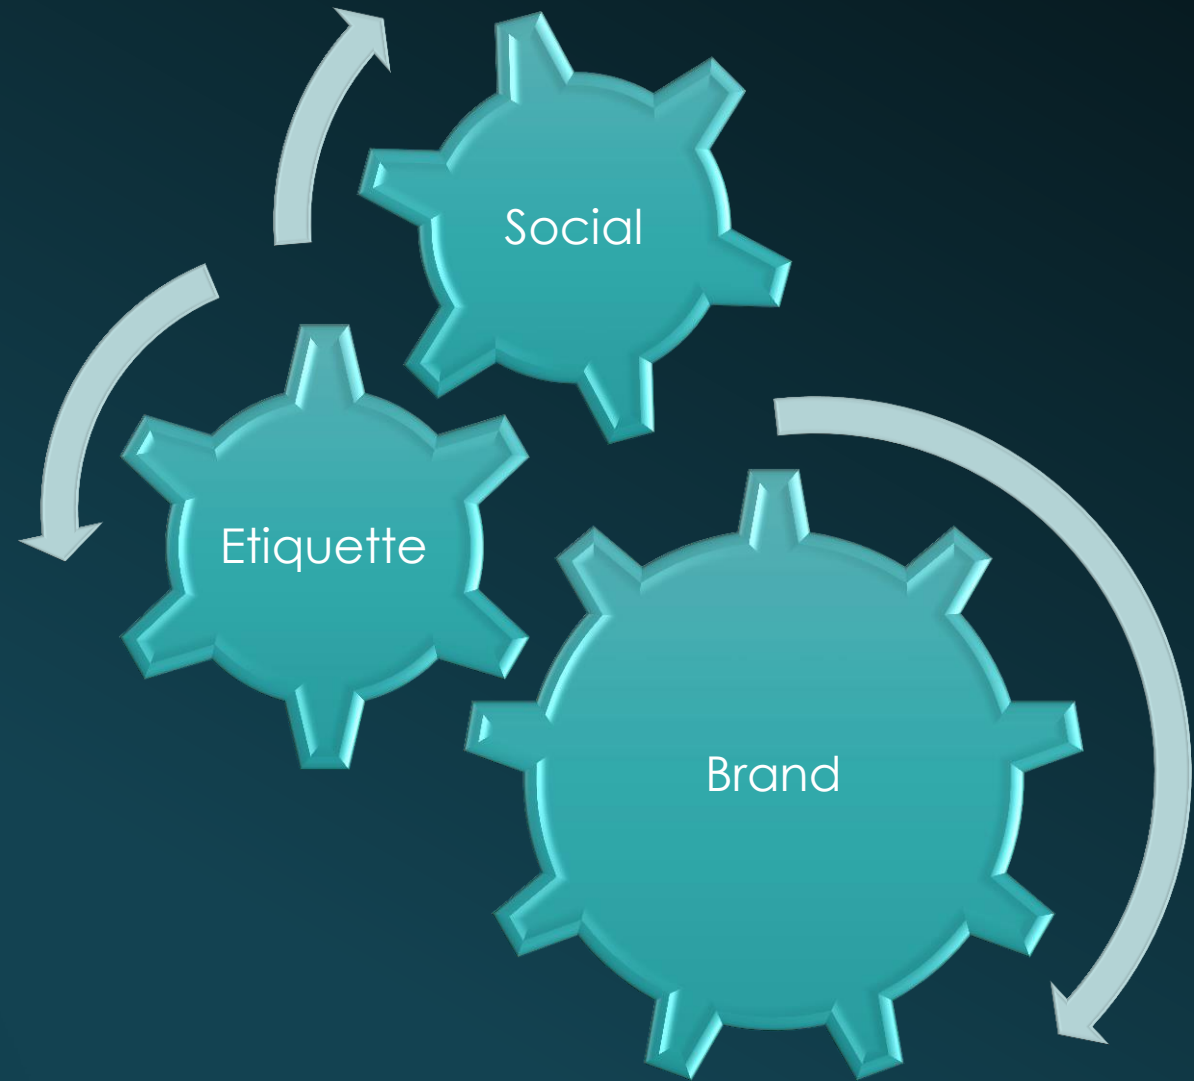

- Keep Your Job
- Change It
- Love it

Keeping It

Essentials

Options

1. Find a new job
2. Fix the one you have

“There is no passion to be found playing small - in settling for a life that is less than the one you are capable of living.”

Nelson Mandela

Intrapreneur – one who recreates/transforms his existing job into one he loves and does well.

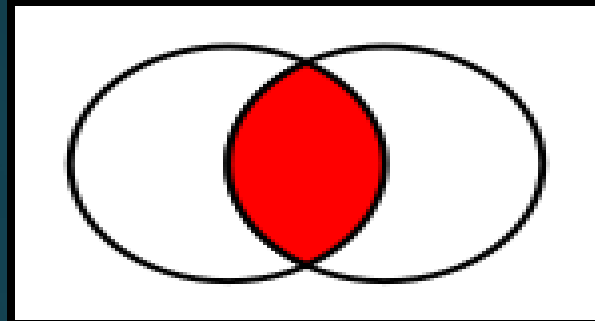

Fixing the Job You Have

PASSION + ABILITY = THE PERFECT FIT

Getting to the Answer

1. What you do well
2. What you love

What do you do well?

A teal-colored scroll graphic with a light green rectangular center. The scroll has a folded top edge and a circular tab at the bottom left. The text is written in white on the light green background.

What do you love doing?

Flow is the mental state of operation in which a person performing an activity is fully immersed in a feeling of energized focus, full involvement, and enjoyment in the process of the activity. Mihály Csíkszentmihályi

Why do it?

“They always say time changes things, but you actually have to change them yourself.”

Andy Warhol
